Suggestions for Draft Report

The draft report should discuss the problems raised hereinbelow and express the views and recommendations of the panel on the following matters:

Doctrinal Warfare Already Undertaken

1. Describe Soviet and Satellite methods of doctrinal warfare.

2. Describe Soviet and Satellite accomplishments in doctrinal warfare.

3. Describe the nature of doctrinal warfare undertaken by other governments and/or private organizations.

4. Describe the accomplishments of such governments and/or organizations in the field of doctrinal warfare.

5. Describe the lessons learned from a study of the doctrinal warfare experience of others.

6. Describe the present American methods of doctrinal warfare and the target audiences reached, including
    a) the doctrines already attacked
    b) the frequency of such attacks
    c) the media through which such attacks are made
    d) the target audiences already attacked

7. Describe the results and accomplishments of American doctrinal warfare already undertaken.

8. Describe the areas or target audiences not now reached, or reached inadequately by present American methods of doctrinal warfare.

9. Describe the methods by which our present program of doctrinal warfare can be improved and implemented.

Definition of Terms

1. Define doctrinal warfare.

Objectives and Achievements

1. Define the objectives and purposes of doctrinal warfare with reference to specific targets.

2. Describe the achievements and results which can be expected to flow from a campaign of doctrinal warfare with reference to specific targets.

Doctrinal Vulnerabilities

1. Describe each doctrinal vulnerability of the hostile system which can be successfully attacked.

2. Describe the manner in which each such vulnerability is to be attacked or exploited.

3. Describe the articles of doctrine which can be most successfully exploited, as well as the positive solutions to be posed as substitutes therefore, if such doctrinal warfare were directed against the following target audiences -

> a) the educators, the elite, and the policy makers of the Soviet and Satellite countries;
> b) the masses, including the Party members in the Soviet and Satellite countries;
>
> c) the leaders and members of the Communist Parties in the non-Soviet orbit countries;
>
> d) the leaders, educators, and the policy-making elite of the non-Soviet orbit countries;
> e) the masses, including the Party members in the non-Soviet orbit countries.

Targets

1. Identify each target audience against which doctrinal warfare can be directed with success.

2. Describe the doctrinal vulnerabilities, an attack upon which would appeal to each specific target audience.
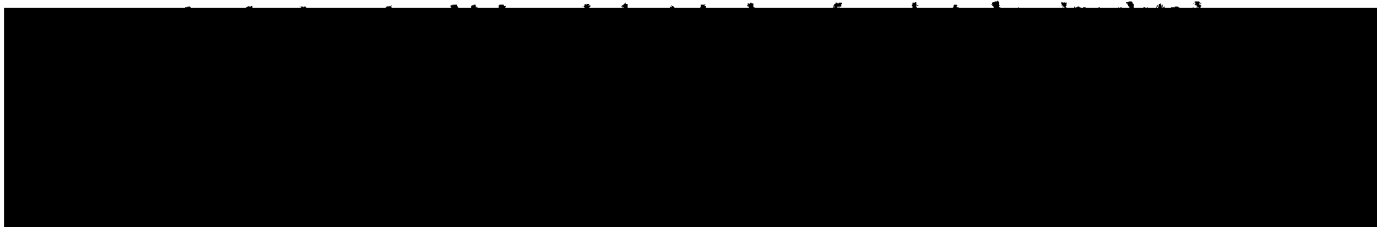

3. Describe the positive solutions, in terms of the target audience, that should accompany each attack upon doctrine.

4. List the targets according to priority and give specific reasons for the priority position of each target.

Living Forces

1. What living forces are now available to which persons in various parts of the world can attach themselves if they are to succumb to attacks of doctrinal warfare (e.g., religion, trade union movement, political parties, etc.).

2. Do all nations have living forces which might serve as an alternative point of attachment to those who abandon the ideology of the hostile system.

3. Would doctrinal warfare suggest independent action on the part of the target audience in the creation of living forces to which to attach themselves where such living forces do not now exist.

Distribution

25X1C

2. Describe the agencies of distribution which are available for the circulation of doctrinal warfare material in terms of each target audience.

3. Describe the extent of coverage that could be expected through available agencies of distribution, in terms of each target audience.

4. Will it be necessary to develop or create any additional media of distribution, in terms of each target audience, in order to obtain adequate coverage.

Frequency of Attack

1. With what systematic frequency is each target audience to be attacked.

Testing

1. Describe the methods by which the effectiveness of a program of doctrinal warfare can be tested in terms of each target audience.

Concealment of Source

25X1C

Research and Composition

1. Who will perform the research and composition necessary to an effective doctrinal warfare attack upon each target audience.
